'7 Layer form additional MI Team to better service Cash Logistics Sector'

Date: Nov 2009

The scope of "Cash Logistics" is the operational processing of cash at retail and wholesale locations, cash handling and transportation and cash inventory management. At one end of the scale are Central or Reserve Banks who distribute new banknotes and coin and dispose of unfit currency. At the other, the points at which the public collect and recycle money – ATMs, shops, retail enterprises and bank branches. In the middle are cash centres run by commercial banks or security companies. These are bulk processing locations for receiving, checking, sorting, stocking and re-packing cash for onward distribution via the Cash-in-Transit operators.

7 Layer Solutions are experts in this field. The company has been engaged in outsourcing contracts by a variety of banks and cash industry suppliers since its inception. In addition its senior staff has many years prior experience in cash systems development, business process consultancy and solution selling. In this specialist business few software companies can match the company's expertise.

We are constantly looking for ways to improve our service to this niche market place and recently formed a new, additional department to channel our specialist knowledge of the industry to maximum advantage. We now have three strategically managed teams. Two of the existing teams have been renamed and are headed up by experienced team leaders Phil Ball (Wholesale Banking Team leader) and Carl Abrahams (newly appointed Commercial Retail Team Leader). Last but by no means least and a really exciting development in the progression of 7 Layer as a company, we have a new team entitled Management Information and headed up by the very capable Austin McDonald.
